City Accepts Clubhouse

"On behalf of all members of the Yorba Linda Woman's Club we dedicate this building to the City of Yorba Linda as a Community Center for people of all ages to use and enjoy."

The words of Dorothy Brough, president of the Woman's Club, were addressed to the guests and dignitaries present at the formal dedication of the Women's Clubhouse, Saturday at 1 p.m.

In accepting the clubhouse, Mayor Carolyn Ewing sighted the "special women" of the Yorba Linda Woman's club and said "I will pledge the city to maintain this clubhouse with loving care and we will show pride in the structure and the grounds."

Mayor Ewing presented a plaque with the City seal "in grateful appreciation" to the Woman's Club to be placed in the clubhouse.

Chairman of the dedication ceremonies was Clara Lambert who introduced honored guests, Congressman Charles Wiggins, City Councilmen Hank Wedaa and Whit Cromwell, Rev. Dean Humbert of the United Methodist Church, who gave the invocation, and Art Simonian, city administrator.

Also attending were Dr. Sterling Fox, superintendent of the Yorba Linda School District and Fred Cloyd and Roy Knauft of the Yorba Linda County Water District.

Mrs. Clemeth Fromworth, president of the Orange District of Federated Women's Club and Mrs. John Middleton, past president of the Yorba Linda Club and second vice president of the Orange District, represented the district at the event.

Mrs. Art Waldorf, immediate past president of the Yorba Linda Club gave a history of the club and presented an American Flag to Simonian.

Gwen Mitchell, Bicentennial Flag to Mayor Ewing.

Ribbon cutting ceremonies followed and the guests were led in the singing of God Bless America by Cromwell.

Board Seeking Citizen Input

One item on the agenda for the regular meeting of the Yorba Linda School District Board of Trustees looked insignificant, but it may have great impact on the community. Only time will tell. It depends, apparently, on Y.L. parents.

School Citizens Advisory Committees are new this year and the board's policy on them was formally approved Thursday, but little was said of their importance until after the meeting.

These committees are set up to give citizens a chance to speak out about any questions or complaints they may have.

And letters from the board are going out this week urging all parents to participate by calling their local principals.

Shirley Guardia, a trustee, later commented that the committee at Nixon school already turned up good feedback and questions from parents, even though only six showed up for the first meeting.

She added the entire board hopes that the committee meetings are instrumental in determining what's behind public resistance toward voting for bond issues. She then revealed the results of a recent survey which she believes to be pertinent.

She said, "The poverty level was shown to be lowest in Yorba Linda than in any other city of Orange County. A the same time Y.L. has large percentage of the highest incomes in the county. People come out here to get away from industry. We have no city tax and are without the benefit of any industry that might otherwise feed into the school system. That's a real problem."

In spite of operating funds being in short supply, Linda Vista

Elementary School opened on scheduled which ended double sessions. However, in order for the district to qualify for construction of a complete Linda Vista School, the State required the district to sell the district office. The new office is temporarily located on the corner of Linda Vista School.

Landscaping at Linda Vista to the lowest qualified bidder was approved for $13,271. ($12,668 base bid plus $608 for additional seeding.) Lowest bidder, Royer-Tamaki Association of Fullerton, offered to do complete landscaping (trees, etc.) for approximately $25,000—an average of $10,000 lower than any of the other offers.

However, after some deliberation over the possibility of accepting the offer in total, the board voted unanimously to stay within the original budget of $14,000.

Because of the continued population growth in the city, the board has anticipated for sometime now, building a new school.

At first the plan was to purchase a site on Bastanchury, but J. Elton Patridge, deputy superintendent, reported during the meeting that two alternative sites were chosen instead because the first property was within 300 feet of nine oil wells owned by Shell Oil Co.

Shell refused to negotiate with the district to purchase the mineral rights (an estimated $240,000).

William Davis, district architect, reported that the other properties—both within the same area, would cost less. The board voted to research both properties further, after Davis assured them that the choice of either one of the two sites would be a "good compromise," he said.

Locals At Conference

Answers to crucial problems in a recovering economy will be examined by 14 nationally-known experts on Thursday, October 16th when Orange County Chamber of Commerce, aided by Yorba Linda and other City Chambers of Commerce, present their most important business affair of the year, the Economic Outlook conference.

The 13th annual conference, to be held at Anaheim Convention Center, is expected to draw 750 attendees, mostly from Orange and Los Angeles Counties, according to Bill OpDyke of the Yorba Linda Chamber.

Those attending from the Yorba Linda business committee will include: Tom Hogan, Pomona Savings & Loan; Bill OpDyke, Y.L. Chamber; Sterling Fox and Elton Patridge, Y.L. School Administration; Vincent Jones, Vinjon's; Susan Brown, Security-Pacific National Bank; Norm Lytal, Farmer's Insurance Group; Don Sisson, Chalet Wine & Spirits; Mrs. Anne McGrory, Crossroads Realty; and others who will make up a special table of ten, marked by an identification sign reading "Yorba Linda". Tickets are $25 per person which includes luncheon and all sessions of the Conference.

Band Concert Fri.

The Third Marine Aircraft Wing Band from El Toro Marine Air Station will present a concert for fifth and sixth grade students in Nixon Park at 10:30 a.m. Friday, Oct. 17.

Following the Bicentennial Children's Concert the band will be the guest of the Rotary Club for lunch and will play at poolside of the Yorba Linda Country Club. State Senator James Whetmore will be the Rotary speaker Friday.

Meeting Re-Scheduled

The regular meeting of the City Council scheduled for Monday, Oct. 20 will be continued to the following Monday, Oct. 27 at 6:30 p.m. The re-scheduling is necessary because of attendance of city officials at the League of California Cities annual conference in San Francisco.

New And Favorite Booths At Fiesta

The Yorba Linda Service League is predicting one of the best fiestas following the annual parade Saturday, November 1. This traditional celebration along Main Street commemorates the incorporation of Yorba Linda and presents an ideal opportunity for local charitable and service organizations to raise funds or acquaint people with their activities.

A new participant among the food and game booths this year will be Old Fashioned Tintypes taken by the Nixon PTA at Rancho Realty's new office parking lot.

Running a plant boutique will be Bernardo Yorba Junior High and those wishing to get a head start on Christmas with a spray of fresh greens, should check the Methodist Youth booth.

A favorite, The Box Maze, is returning, sponsored by Fairmont's PTO. Hot dogs will be sold by Littlest Angel Guild and for those with a sweet tooth, Choc-ettes will have cotton candy.

With a choice of over 45 varied booths the fiesta will offer everyone a good time as well as a chance to support many organizations of the area.

As in years past the Service League is presenting a float in Yorba Linda's Fiesta Days Parade. In keeping with the bicentennial theme "...Sweet Land of Liberty"...the float will be titled "I Pledge Allegiance."

Though their entry is built by new members of Service League, the other members are also very involved. Being the sponsors of the event makes it a busy time for the organization.

As a community service co-ordination of the parade; detouring and directing of traffic; management of the Fiesta following and clean up afterward is done entirely by the local group.

Land Swap Not Easy

Yorba Linda's search for land with which it might swap the Yorba Linda Elementary School District for the ball field near the corner of Valley View and Yorba Linda Boulevard goes on, notwithstanding two setbacks revealed at Monday night's city council meeting.

The city had been eyeing property located on Casa Loma near Bastanchury. The land seemed suitable for trading. But last week City Administrator Arthur C. Simonian reported it had been decided that the value of oil under the parcel put it out of the city's reach.

A piece of nearby land, which the Metropolitan Water District has offered the city, next briefly came under consideration, until a water district spokesman pointed out that the land could legally be offered only for direct park or recreational use. Swapping was out.

Councilman Whit Cromwell then suggested that the land might be of use anyway. If the city acquired the property, and the school district acquired adjoining land, joint development such as that planned for the Valley View site would be possible, he pointed out.

Mayor Carolyn Ewing and Henry Wedaa, the other councilmen present, agreed.

The problem occurs because the school district, which owns the ballfield on Valley View, cannot legally sell the land. Instead, it must trade the property for a parcel equally desirable and of equal value.

The city's task is to find such a parcel.

The same night, the council accepted Simonian's recommendation to await a second appraisal of another piece of land owned by the school district which the city is considering buying.

According to Simonian, the second appraisal should be within a few thousand dollars of the first appraisal, which was for $42,500. The property is located at 4701 Casa Loma.

City Councilman Henry Wedaa had proposed approving purchase on the strength of Simonian's evaluation, but the city administrator advised awaiting the actual appraisal.

In view of the city's growing involvement in parks and recreation, Mayor Ewing directed City Counsel Leonard Hampel to prepare an ordinance establishing a permanent city parks and recreation committee.

Bicentennial Balloon Race

With a city election in the offing for next year, the prospect is that the air will become heated in Yorba Linda.

Why not put it to use? This is not perhaps the path which Dennis Burrell's thinking took, but he arrived at the same result.

Burrell is a hot air balloonist. He approached Millie Krantz, chairman of Yorba Linda's Bicentennial Committee, a little while ago with his idea for holding a hot-air balloon race in the city as part of the general whoop-de-doo. Last week Mrs. Krantz laid the project before the city council.

Tax Bill Increase

Local property owners face higher tax payments in the next 12 months as County Tax Collector-Treasurer Robert Citron announced increased assessed valuations.

In Yorba Linda the assessed value on property increased by 5.9 per cent. This comes to an average of $510 per home. On the average, tax bills here will be upped by about $64.

Despite the increase, Citron said the raise in taxes will not be as high as was originally thought. Increases will vary from area to area and even to different parts of a given city.

The assessor raised the assessed valuation an average of 14% in the entire county. Increases range from $17 in the Westminster area to $477 in the Irvine-Turtle Rock area.

There are 1,550 different consolidated tax rates which comprise 213 different taxing agencies in the county.

The property tax bill is calculated by taking the consolidated tax rate in the area where the property is located, times the assessed value as determined by the assessor, less the Homeowner's Exemption where applicable. The average exemption reduction this year amounts to $170 tax dollars.

The first installment on property tax bills will be delinquent if not received or postmarked by December 10. The second installment will be delinquent by April 10, 1976.

Taxpayers who do not have impound accounts with mortgage companies for their taxes and have not received their tax bill by November 1 should call the tax collector's office immediately at 834-3411.

Lorraine Scheidt told the council.

*Adopted on second reading ordinances permitting expansion of an existing fruit and avocado packing house and construction of a new post office, both on Lemon Drive west of Imperial.

*Approved expense of $600 to pave 275 feet of sidewalk along the south side of Yorba Linda Boulevard east of Lakeview. At the suggestion of Councilman Henry Wedaa, City Engineer Roy Stephenson agreed to include in the project a lane for bicycles, if he could do so without extra expense.

*Approved expensed of $135 requested by the Beautification Committee for a booth at the up-coming Fiesta Days celebration.

*Agreed to postpone their next meeting until Oct. 27, since a number of councilmen and staff members will be out of town on the regular date for the meeting, Oct. 20.

Council Roundup

Among various actions, Yorba Linda City Council last week--

*Adopted a resolution establishing policy for reimbursing councilmen for out-of-county trips on city business. The policy requires prior council approval for such trips, time permitting.

*Adopted resolutions recommended by the traffic committee establishing four-way stops at the intersections of Main and Lemon and Plumbosa and Lemon and single stops on Olinda Drive, School Street, and Valencia Avenue at their intersections with Lemon and on Amberdale at Canyon Drive in Southeastern Yorba Linda.

*Approved a recommendation by the city Beautification Committee that Bench Ad Company, owner of the city's 17 bus benches, be permitted to include tasteful advertising on the backs of such benches. Benches would cost the city $50-300 each if the city were to provide them, committee chairman

Reagan's Column

Copley News Service

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro is anxious to normalize trade and diplomatic relations with us, we are told, but he picked a funny way to prove it when he staged an international conference in Havana in September to promote the "liberation" of Puerto Rico from the United States.

Back in March, the World Peace Council, an organization controlled by the Soviet Union, called for a preliminary meeting of Marxist representatives in Cuba to discuss the matter of Puerto Rico.

The delegates to that meeting issued a call for the larger September gathering, all of which was designed to promote one Juan Mari Bras' tiny Puerto Rican Socialist Party.

The "call" was the usual Marxist harangue: "The people of the world must redouble their efforts to defeat in Puerto Rico the promoters of crime in Vietnam, Chile, Palestine and other places, so that the liberation of the Puerto Rican people will signify a new victory in the cause of freedom..."

It is always ironic to see representatives of the Soviet Union joining in denunciations of "imperialism" by the United States, since the USSR holds the world championship for imperialism.

All this led to the September "international conference on solidarity with Puerto Rico's independence" in Havana. Some 300 delegates attend—4, including a smattering of U.S. Communist Party functionaries.

The object of their affection, and of the superheated rhetoric that flowed from the three-day conference, is an "open" movement for Puerto Rican independence that is about as popular there as ants at a picnic.

The issue of independence versus continuation of the commonwealth status of the island was put to a vote of its people just eight years ago. Out of more than 700,000 votes cast, fewer than 1 per cent voted for independence.

This, of course, hasn't deterred Mari Bras or the terrorists of the Fuerzas Armadas de Liberacion Nacional (FALN).

The FALN has claimed it bombed New York's historic Fraunces tavern last January. Five people died in that bombing. According to the FBI, the FALN leadership got its training in sabotage in Cuba. Sounds like the "old" Castro Cuba which routinely exported guerrilla warfare and violence all over the hemisphere.

The fine hand of the Soviet Union in all this mischief isn't hard to see. A Russian actually served as a vice chairman of the Havana conference, and the Soviets' puppet World Peace Council appears to have provided the over-all strategy for the propaganda service.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger took a properly dim view of the proceedings. He said the "meeting in Havana can only be considered by us as an unfriendly act."

Castro's best-known U.S. fan recently has been Sen. George McGovern. His wife, Eleanor, who visited Cuba with him a few months ago, said of the bearded dictator: "The most impressive thing about Fidel is his mind. The breadth, depth and width of his knowledge is enormous. Fidel knows the specifics of everything."

If that's so, perhaps he can grasp the idea that he can't have things both ways. He can't have normal trade and relations with the United States and, at the same time, be the Western distributor for Soviet Marxism.

Indeed, if he wants the former, one of the points we must insist on is that he deny the Soviets base and landing rights on Cuba and that he guarantee in writing that he'll stop training guerrillas for revolutionary export around the Western Hemisphere.

Reluctant 'Yes' On Mid-East Pact

The Middle East situation, New York City's financial problems, "Third World" nations, relations with Cuba and the Panama Canal were among subjects explored by Congressman Charles Wiggins at last Friday's Yorba Linda Rotary Club meeting.

Although Wiggins said he is "unhappy" with the agreement hammered out by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger between Israel and Egypt, he maintained that he voted for it based on the long range benefits to the United States.

The main ingredient in the agreement for the U.S. is the stationing of 200 volunteer technicians to man two monitoring stations in the zone protected by UN forces.

Wiggins could not envision any circumstances in which either side would attack the American crews.

Grant OK'd

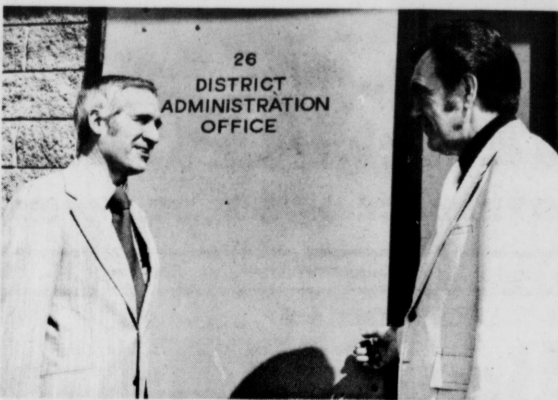

Chief Robert Wasserman announced that the Brea Police Department has been awarded a grant from the Office of Criminal Justice Planning to acquire a Community Crime Prevention Mobile Unit.

The van type vehicle and personnel will be located at various centers throughout the Cities of Brea and Yorba Linda to perform a variety of police services along with dissemination of crime prevention information.

As part of the $27,000 project, specially trained officers and cadets will be contacting residents and providing security inspections and information.

SOMETHING'S MISSING—Yorba Linda School District's Superintendent, Sterling Fox, left, and his assistant, J. Elton Patridge, discover no outside handle on door of their new administrative offices in the Linda Vista School. District officials and staff moved into the new quarters last Monday, after a handle had been put on the door.

District Staff At Linda Vista

Due to complicated legal requirements accompanying the construction of the new Linda Vista Elementary School the Yorba Linda School District has moved into temporary quarters in the new school building at 5600 S. Ohio.

Superintendent Sterling Fox, Assistant Superintendent Elton Patridge, and their supporting staff, moved from the District Office on Casa Loma last Saturday.

They will occupy a wing of the new school which actually gives them considerable more room than they had in the old quarters which had been converted into an office after being used as a house.

The legal requirements by the State of California were that the district was required to sell the District Office and "contribute" the square footage in order to qualify for construction of a complete Linda Vista School.

The building on Casa Loma has been offered for sale to the City of Yorba Linda as a possible Parks and Recreation headquarters.

Fox said that the District telephone number will remain the same, 528-6088.

Police Beat

Sunday, Oct. 12

A would-be kidnapper was apparently thwarted Sunday by the near-victim's alert owner.

Richard A. Sanford, 28, of 4231 Dorothea, Yorba Linda, told police he saw a car pull up in front of his house about 6:30 p.m. The driver whistled and called to Sanford's toy poodle, which was in the front yard. The dog got in and the car pulled away.

Sanford immediately got into his own car and took off after them. At the intersection of La Casita and Avocado he managed to cut the culprit off with his vehicle.

Sanford recovered his pet and persuaded the suspect, a young man in his early twenties who identified himself as "Mike", to return with him to his home.

When Sanford said he was going to call the police, the suspect decided to leave; whereupon Sanford allegedly slugged him over the left eye, opening a cut. But while Sanford made the actual call, the suspect escaped.

Sanford placed the value of the dog at $250.

Sometime the previous night tape decks were stolen from both of two vehicles parked at the residence of David Derran, 18721 Loraine, Yorba Linda, along with an FM tuner and 5 tapes. Loss was put at $135.

Friday, Oct. 10

A cashbox containing $50 and a $25 radio were reportedly stolen from Forest Nursery, 18152 Imperial Highway, between 6 p.m. Thursday last week and 8:30 a.m. Friday.

Thursday, Oct. 9

Peabody's Unfinished Furniture Store, 18264 Imperial Highway, was the poorer last week by a $6 planter box and a $20 radio, taken Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

Wednesday, Oct. 8

A $125 quadraphonic radio disappeared Tuesday night from the car of James W. Moore, 4582 Jamestown Dr., Yorba Linda. The vehicle had been parked in Moore's carport.

Tuesday, Oct. 7

At the beginning of a bad week for cars, a $150 citizens' band radio was stolen Monday night from a vehicle belonging to Norman R. Coates, 5282 Mountain View, Yorba Linda.

Thursday, Oct. 2

Police learned a week ago Monday of an incident involving an 11-year-old girl at Yorba Linda District Library Thursday the week before.

According to the girl, she was accosted about 5:30 p.m. in the upstairs collection of animal books by a youth, 18 to 20 years old, who subsequently exposed himself indecently.

The girl immediately returned to the main part of the library, but apparently did not report the incident. She allegedly did not tell her parents of it until the following day.

The Fire Department warned of high fire danger the next few days with brisk Santana winds and urged the public to be very careful with fire.

SAFETY FAIR ATTRACTION—Smockey the bear [impersonated by Frank D. Campbell of the state division of forestry] was especially welcome at Yorba Linda Junior Woman's Club's Safety Fair. Young Joey Huelsman learns about bear hugs. Demonstrations included fire safety, locks, bike safety, and bomb disposal.

Installation of stop signs along Lemon Drive converting all the intersections into four way stops startled motorists Monday morning. The new system will take a bit of getting used to but it is a definite improvement in regulating the flow of traffic.

For one thing, it will slow down those leadfoots who barreled into Lemon from Imperial and sped eastward. It will also make it easier for pedestrians to cross at the intersections.

Many years ago I was a school board member when the district built several schools. I was proud of them and of having my name on the plaques placed on the schools.

But I would trade all of them for my name on a plaque on the new Linda Vista School. I went to the dedication and came away amazed at what had been built.

If ever children were given a more pleasant environment in which to learn I'd like to see it. Actually, there are more features to the school than can be enumerated in this column but I intend to do an article which will explain the features and the reasoning behind them.

I would strongly urge that parents, whether they have children in the school or not, visit and study the school. With more schools due to be built here because of the expected population growth it would be well to become acquainted with what can be done to make a school beautiful yet functional.

By the way, I would also strongly urge that if you act on my suggestion that you get implicit instructions on how to get to Linda Vista School. It's not very easy to find.

Letters To The Editor

Tree Lovers Laments

Dear Editor

The Yorba Linda Tragedy.

For a town dedicated toward a rural atmosphere, bird sanctuary and keeper-of-the-trees, the many acre ravage at Lakeview and Buena Vista is a legalized crime.

These 17 acres were, until Supervisor Dietrich interfered, to be part of the lake park acquisition. It was the home, at last count, of 4 pheasants, one covey of quail, 6 racoons, 2 possums, hawks, owls, doves, crows and more.

voter applications for the November 4 General District Elections.

These elections are being conducted in areas affecting approximately half of the county's voters and will be held in various water districts, sanitary districts, park and recreation districts and other special districts.

In Yorba Linda there is going to be an election for three seats on the Water District Board. Two of the seats are for full terms and the other is for a vacancy which is being filled by an appointee.

I have talked to a couple of the candidates and neither of them feel that there will be a large turnout of voters. As one of them said, "only the old time residents vote." This is probably true but it would be well for newer residents to take an interest in the elections.

The water board may not appear to be important but the subject of water, especially with the anticipated growth in the local population, is vital to every resident of the city.

Members of the Yorba Linda Service League which sponsors the Fiesta Days Parade are undoubtedly praying that they do not have to go through the uncertainty that the Placencia Heritage Day sponsors experienced last Saturday when rain threatened their parade.

The November 1 local event is rapidly taking shape. If the weather cooperates it should be a gala event at which all residents of Yorba Linda can join in having fun and meeting people whom they may not yet know.

The Service League is working hard to make a success of Fiesta Days and feel it will be if everyone participates. Events like this can do much to unify a community and from that standpoint alone they are very worthwhile.

The pheasants have retreated to the last stand on the east side of the reservoir. The rest I do not know about.

The eucalyptus along Buena Vista did not require removal. Many ingenious planning commissions save rows of trees along side of narrow roads by leaving them as center dividers during road widening.

These trees have stood 60 plus mph winds just fine, and as borders of a subdivision they will receive more water than before. In fact, many Y.L. homes are bordered by eucalyptus by choice. If insurance premiums are the problem why not have the developers pay? Many are wealthy and go into politics.

Lastly the tall stand of eucalyptus between the 17 acre ravage and the lake bed certainly do not need removal. There are many legal implications involved if this stand is decimated.

If you love trees, call any Y.L. official or office and ask them to relay your protest.

Charges Dismissed

Three charges levied by Brea Police against David S. Bowman, 4662 Torrida Way, Yorba Linda, were dismissed in Municipal Court in Fullerton last Friday.

Bowman had been charged with suspicion of assault and battery, assault with a deadly weapon and malicious mischief.

The charges arose out of an incident on the night of October 2 when Bowman allegedly chased and caught four Yorba Linda youngsters who had reportedly squirted liquid on him from a fire extinguisher.

Bowman said that the judge dropped the charges after hearing that the police report which said he slipped and fell down after being squirted was erroneous. Bowman said the fall was caused by being hit by the car the youths were driving.

"Peggy's Pointers"

The State of California has recently legislated new requirements involving the upholstered furniture industry, and ultimately, you the consumer. This new law requires that all seating which contains filling such as foam, dacron, or even down and feathers, meet flammability requirements under the Flammability Code #117-75.

Compliance is also expected of all those manufacturers from other states who ship goods for resale in our state. Any seating which is now on the floors of stores need not meet these new requirements, provided the merchandise was there prior to the first of October.

However, you, the consumer, have the right to question before buying, and should be given a definite answer.

The new materials used to fill the requirements of the code will naturally be more costly, and prices have increased anywhere from 5% to 12% depending upon the manufacturer.

Any merchandise you should order from Raydra Interiors will meet the State Flammability Code. Should you have any questions regarding these new requirements, please see me and I'll do my best to explain them to you.

One more thing—the GUPPIES of PLJAA FOOTBALL are the BEST!!!

Fondly,

Peggy
